COLONIAL THEATRE. Mary Pickford in "What the Daisy

Said," Beautiful Film Poem. Dainty little Mary is seen to splen bainty little Mary is seen to spien-did advantage today in the season's most bewitching and characteristic offering. What the Daisy Said. Be-sides this the strongest Vitagraph fea-ture in three reels, entitled, My Lost One, featuring Nicholas Dunaew, Dor-One, featuring Nicholas Dunaew, Dorothy Kelly and others programmed. The story runs as follows: Poverty and brilliant promises of an operatic career, cause Perdita, former chorus girl-to desert her husband. Gifted with a really wonderful voice, she makes a big hit, but suffers keenly from remorse. Juan the husband, is heart-broken, and to add to his troubles, his beautiful opera, My Lost One, is stolen from him. He wanders into the theatre where his wife is playing, and during the performance. playing, and during the performance, emotion overcomes him. Springing into the aisle, he cries, "My Lost One" and collapses. With a cry of joy. Perdita recognizes her husband and after quieting the excited audience, tendenty religious. tenderly ministers to the suffering man. The reunion which follows brings joy and forgetfulness of the nast, and Juan succeeds in proving authorship of his stolen opera in which his wife is starring. The rascally director is denoted and Juan is cally director is deposed and Juan is chosen as his successor, thus ending happily this stirring drama so beauti-fully acted. G. M. far the most extraordinary feature on the programme for next Wed-nesday, is the four reel spectacle en-titled Midnight at Maxim's, containing a complete cabaret show, with many mammoth ballets with special music. Only Broadway stars appear in this Wednesday production, also the lead-ing premiers of the ballet.

DAVIS THEATRE TODAY.

The vaudeville attraction at this popular theatre today is Lahoen and Dupree, a big European novelty act that is making a big hit with the Davis patrons. They sing and do some re-markable shooting and they have a special stage setting that sets the act off to advantage. The lady shoots at articles on the stage from different parts of the theatre and rarely misses the object she is shooting at. This is an act everyone should endeavor to see. The feature photoplay today is The Failure, a four part Mutual Masterpicture featuring the popular dramatic star, John Emerson, sup-ported by an excellent company of Reliance players.

The Failure is full of graphic, throbbing reality, overwhelming in its pathos and vivid appeal and dramatic plot and action. The hero of this av is a newspaper reporter, but one with lofty ideals and a burning pur-pose. Having learned of the hidden riciousness and immorality of a cer-turn famous theatrical manager, he de-cides to give the facts to the public cldes to give the facts to the pu commonplace incident, but upon in hinges the terrible events that set the plot in motion and which culminate in the final grim tragedy.

lections ranging from ragtime to the classics. This will be a big musical treat to the Davis patrons next week. The feature picture for Monday and Tuesday is a four part Mutual Mas-terpicture called The Darkening Trail. featuring the greatest of all western actors, William S. Hart. The background of The Darkening Trail is the pulsating life of the great Northwest—the scene is Alaska—land of mines and clear-eyed men of action. The stary is the handless level Valence stery is the hopeless love of Yukon Ed (Wm. S. Hart), for a girl who throws away her affections upon cad. The play has the electric thrill of a great dramatic masterpiece, and the scenes are high in artistic beauty. The Mutual War Weekly and a funny comedy will complete this big gala the Auditorium.

Again today the femous pictures of the Austro-German drive through Galica, showing the terrible battle and fall of Przemysi will be shown. These are positively the best war pictures ever produced and show with the shown at the fair. Half a dollar buys a ticket from the labor men and incidentally helps them, for every ticket sold by them entitles the bearer to a bundle of fun at the fair and gives the Central Labor union a little revenue.

POETRY

MEN TRUNDLE BED. As I runmaged through the atth, List'ning to the falling rain.
As it pattered on the shingles
And against the window penes
Peeping over chests and boxes
Which with dust word thickly spread
Saw I in the farthest corner
What was once my trundle bed.

So I drew it from the recess

Where it had remained so long.

Hearing all the while the music

Of my mother's voice in song:

As she sung in sweetest accents

What I since have often read—

Hush, my dear, its still and siumber

Holy angels guard thy bed."

As I listened, recollections
That I thought had been forgot
Come with all the gush of mem'ry,
Rushing, thronging to the spot;
And I wandered back to childhood
To those merry days of yore,
When I knelt beside my mother,
By this bed upon the floor,

Then it was with hands so gently
Placed upon my infant head
That she taught my itps to utter
Carefully the words she said:
Never can they be forgotten.
Deep are they in mem'ry riven—
"Hallowed by Thy name, O Father
Father! Thou who are in heaven

Years have passed, and that dear mother mother
Long has mouldered 'neath the sod,
And I trust her sainted spirit
Revels in the home of God,
But that scene at summer twillight
Never has from nem'ry fled,
And it comes in all its freshness
When I see my trundle bed,

This she taught me, then she told me
Of its import great and deep—
After which I learned to utter
',Now I lay me downto sleep."
Then it was with hands uplifted,
And in accents soft and mild,
That my mother asked—"Our Father!
Father! do thou bless my child!"
